

Bigger Prizes, Better Ball At Wainwright, July 1st

Well, folks, it's out. The decision has been made, and Wainwright is offering the biggest prizes in their history for baseball at the annual July 1 celebration. Yes, there is $75.00 for first money at this great annual event and as the local team has developed into a pretty snappy working unit it looks as though the brand of ball you will see this year will really knock your hat off. Just where the other teams will come from is not yet known, of course, but you can depend upon it that there will be lots of good teams and lots of good play.

That's the big news, of course, for all you ball fans of the district have really been looking forward to a "good" program of ball — something snappy and better than you have seen for years — and here it is.

And the softballs are getting a real break this year too, for the prize in the men's softball is $40.00. That's big money for softball, and it's followed up by $20.00 for second and $10.00 for the boys who come in third. The ladies' softball, too, is getting well paid, with a first prize of $40 and $20 for the other two top teams.

This means just one thing — a lot of good teams and a lot of good play. Just so the kids won't get tired of standing around — and also to put the price of few hot dogs and cokes in their pockets, there will be a big program of children's races with liberal prizes.

And for the old timers there's the boccehoon tournament, with a crisp five dollar bill for the first and $2.50 for second.

Just what's going to be done about a dance we cannot say at the moment, but there's every chance that you will have a chance to wind up the evening — till midnight anyway — on the dance floor. So there it is, folks. You'll miss a grand afternoon of fun and thrills if you fail to turn up at the biggest July 1 celebration at Wainwright this year. By the way — it will be staged at the P.M.C. grounds — right handy to town — with newly fixed up diamonds for both baseball and softball.

Just a tip to ball teams. The closing date for entries in June 25th, but you will do well to get your entries in before that date. There may be more entries than can be accommodated.

Bad News For Prairie Farmers

Two bad pieces of news to many prairie farmers have just come from the Government of Canada. On May 26th the Rt. Hon. Mr. C. D. Howe, Minister of Trade and Commerce, announced on his return from Britain that there will be no further contract between Britain and Canada for the purchase of any definite quantities of wheat; nor will any definite price be set for any wheat Britain decides to buy except as may come under the terms of the International Wheat Agreement.

On June 1st the Rt. Hon. Mr. Howe further announced that Britain will not make any settlement under the "wheat regard to" clause in the British-Canadian Wheat Agreement which most people thought meant that Britain would repay to prairie farmers something in consideration of their huge loss of over 252 million dollars, which represents the difference between the price of $1.55 at which Canada supplied wheat to Britain for two years under the wheat contract, and the much higher price at which the Canadian Wheat Board sold the same Canadian wheat to many other countries.

This is just one more instance, to be added to hundreds of others, as recorded in history, where attempts by Governments to set prices, and to make agreements about the purchase and sale of commodities, have not lived up to the expectations of those who proposed and implemented the contracts.

F.U.A. Delegation Seeks Increase In Initial Wheat Payment

A three-man delegation headed by Carl J. Stimpfle, president of the Farm Union of Alberta will meet Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Trade and Commerce, at Ottawa June 30, to request an increased final payment on wheat sold in previous years under the British Wheat Agreement. The delegation will consist of Mr. Stimpfle, L. Phelps, president of the Saskatchewan Farmers' Union, and A. R. Hadland, Baldoon, B.C., F.U.A. District Director for the B.C. area.

The delegation will seek an increase in the final payment on wheat sold under the British Wheat Agreement, which is almost a year in arrears. The contract the final payment would bring the overall total price to approximately $1.75 per bushel, and the joint Alberta-Saskatchewan farm delegation will be seeking an increase to boost the overall total of $2.00 per bushel. Mr. Stimpfle and his delegation contend that a boost in the final payment would compensate at least in part for the drastic cut farmers will be taking on the sale of their 1950 wheat. Some weeks ago Mr. Howe announced that the floor price on their 1950 wheat would be $1.40 per bushel for top quality at Port Arthur or Port Arthur. The delegation contends that this drastic reduction will seriously disturb the economy of Alberta and Saskatchewan farmers because actually the net price to them will only be in the neighborhood of $1.15 per bushel at best.

The delegation expects to be in conference all day June 28, and if necessary will continue into the following day. Mr. Stimpfle will be leaving Edmonton, Friday, June 16th.

Ball Team Ties At Lloyd Return Game Planned

After having achieved a pretty nice record playing the local teams in the League, Wainwright ball team decided to step out and try their luck with bigger fish, so on Friday last they played their home game with the Lloydminster team on their home diamond.

Right from the start the game was a toughie, with both teams determined to put on a good show. The first inning saw the score all tied up with one run apiece. Finlay of Wainwright went around the diamond for the locals while Dodd of Lloydminster did the honors for the northern boys. Both these men were second to bat.

In the second inning neither team scored, though Hillard and Tait both got so far as third base.

The third inning saw Wainwright's C. F. Murray make the circuit to run the count up to 2-1. Loy of Lloyd got as far as third base, but Hillard's hard pitching was more than the Lloyd boys could cope with.

And then it happened. Lloyd broke away in the fourth and led by a five-run get four players safely home, at the same time holding the Wainwright boys in complete check.

For a little while it looked as though the lead would be off and that Wainwright was going to come home with their tails between their legs, but not for long. The locals were shocked into action by the sudden revival and came back in the fifth with Myers, Murray and Finlay rolling home under a full head of steam.

The score, now again tied, was not settled again for a single inning in the sixth for each team wrote final to the scoring, and left both with six points to their credit.

There is no doubt that a lot of credit for the success of the game goes to Hillard for his hard pitching and also to Jack Buckley, who can really hit the ball when he wants to.

Efforts are being made to arrange a return game for Sunday afternoon, June 25th, at about 2:30 p.m. at the P.M.C. Arena here. Watch for posters.

SPORTS ARE HARD WORK

One thing that has, for a long time, struck us rather forcibly, is the tremendous amount of work that certain willing individuals have to do in order that the rest of us may enjoy sports. At a sports day, or a baseball game, or a hockey game when we are enjoying ourselves as we watch the play, we are very likely to overlook the effort that has made this exhibition of sport possible, and the grief that has in all probability been endured.

The players, themselves, are perhaps our primary benefactors in this case. Every hour of play may require many hours of practise — and games are hard work. Baseball and softball are played under a scorching sun... and hockey is often played when the frigid air nips at the lungs and shortens the "wind". Then some sports are dangerous. Nearly every hockey game sees a player suffer painful if not serious injuries, and even baseball takes its toll. The players must get ready away ahead of the game and travel sometimes miles to play. This takes time and costs money. Equipment, too, while provided in many cases by the sponsoring club, is costly, and must be paid for.

Then we have the essential but often unpopular fellow called the umpire. Just why anyone consents to act in this capacity is hard to figure out. Except for the job of hangman, it is perhaps the most thankless task on earth... and he simply can't be right from all points of view.

But that's just half the battle—behind the scenes of any public exhibition of sport there are anywhere from two or three to a dozen or more men who have worn themselves to a frazzle, using up their spare time (and some that was not to spare) organizing, preparing grounds or ice, talking, thinking, planning, advertising, arguing, and finally hoping.

And remember—not one of these, players or organizers hope to receive any real cash reward for their efforts.

So, folks, when you sit down and watch a ball, game or a hockey game... or for that matter any form of public sport... remember the folks who have and are doing so much to make your enjoyment possible.

AN INTERESTING SYMBOL

In the British House of Commons, when a Speaker is chosen, this is done before hand, and when the House meets the Clerk of the House rises and points his finger silently at the member who has been chosen.

Then two Members catch him by the arms and force him to the Speaker's chair, with every evidence of unwillingness on his part—even going to the point of shaking his fist at those who escort him. The point is that being Speaker years ago meant being the officer of the House of Commons who spoke to the King, very severely sometimes, about the liberties of the people and the amount of the people's income which the king was spending. It was sometimes a rather risky post.

The full symbolism is not used at Ottawa. There is not the same clear evidence of unwillingness on the part of a new speaker. It would be a good thing perhaps if the old-fashioned ritual were perpetuated in detail.

The theory of democratic government is that the man who serves the public does so at loss and inconvenience. He risks unpopularity. He undertakes an unpleasant and unprofitable task, because it is his duty to do so.

It seems a long time ago since anyone mentioned this in Canada. It seems many years ago that the idea was changed, and Canadians were given to understand that election to the legislature, or public office of any kind, was a sort of privilege, paying very good returns, and to be sought after—not avoided.

This is all evidence of the change which has come over the idea of government in democracies. Where governments and their officials were supposed to be servants of the people, elected to serve the people well, they were paid and treated as poorly as servants often are. There has grown up the idea that Ministers, Members of Parliament, and the civil servants are a specially favored class of people, who have won great privileges, for which they must be well rewarded. It is now becoming rather improper to say that a government is badly run, or that it wastes money, or that it tries all kinds of experiments without sufficient thought. People in this country have been heard to say that any one who says that the Prime Minister at any time is not fit for the job is being a disloyal citizen.

Probably it is not possible to go the whole way to the old system, but sensible men will agree that it would be a good thing if there were a little more of the idea that public office of any kind is sometimes undertaken unwillingly, at loss and inconvenience, even if the risk of unpopularity, for the solitary purpose of serving the nation unselfishly.—C.W.N.A.

ONLY A NEW TWIST

According to a recent Gallup Poll, Canadians are now over ninety percent in favor of baby bonuses.

This is not surprising.

Most Canadians have been in favor of a system of baby bonuses since the inception of federal income taxes.

And just that long too, have Canadians had baby bonuses. The principle has long been accepted that the more numerous a taxpayer's dependents, the less tax he should pay to government.

All our federal government did was to turn an "exemption" in to a "bonus." It looked politically much better that way.

Now each month the mother of each family gets her cheque from Ottawa. To provide money enough to cash that cheque each person, by weekly or quarterly deductions, and through increased sales taxes and higher costs of foods and services, pays more money to Ottawa. We are all part now of one big family working for father at the capital and he pays out the wages.

There is some merit to the system.

There is also much danger.

We were listening the other day to a Pole, who is now a substantial success, relate how he got his start in business when he first came to this country.

He asked a bank manager for a loan of six hundred dollars. Asked what security he could offer, he replied: "I have

Joe Rutledge Says

By Joseph Lister Rutledge

The Argument Of Possessions

That cherished theme song of the labor agitator that every wage in increase is more than offset by increased prices of the things the worker buys in at best or worst, only faintly true. All increases in the cost of manufacture, which one way and another, is 90% wages, must be reflected in the cost of the goods produced. Technical efficiencies take up part of that charge increased productive effort could take up most of it. If men didn't want more for less effort. But even without these assistances and with the recognition that increased wages must be reflected in the price of goods, all the gain is not lost. The labor official is not quite honest in suggesting that what management concedes in wages it recovers in prices and that therefore the organized worker is standing still.

The worker isn't standing still. If he hasn't more cash to juggle in his pocket, it is because he has invested that added cash in possessions. These are stubborn facts. They are facts presented by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, which has no personal axe to grind. It is no use arguing with the Bureau that the dollar does not buy as much as it used to, for the Bureau deals in a dollar that is not used on the market, a constant dollar that is adjusted to all these varying contingencies so that its purchasing power is exactly the same in 1945 as it was in 1939. Using this constant dollar as a measure, the bureau calmly announces that by and large the citizens of Canada have done pretty well over those ten years since 1939, that they have purchased in all sorts of goods and consumer services 174% of what they purchased in 1939.

Mark you! That doesn't mean that they paid more for what they bought, though that is true too. It means that after due allowance has been made for the extra costs of most things, we citizens own 74% more than we did in 1939. We have more automobiles, more furniture, more radios, more bath tubs and electric stoves and what not. More of us have telephones and furnaces and the things that make for added comfort. Looked at any way you will, and allowing for all sorts of things, we as individuals possess or enjoy almost twice what we had in 1939. Now how did we get these things if we had no more money? It's no use saying that we were the wealthy who added to their possessions, for those ten years saw the wealthy, reluctantly perhaps, giving up the major part of their wealth.

Professional Women To Meet At Halifax

Some 300 women already have started registering for the 12th biennial convention of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Canada to be held here July 7-12.

Ontario has more than half the number of clubs in the Dominion and a similar proportion of members. Most of them to register, however, was Annie M. Logie of Vancouver, who wrote: "I am looking forward to re-visiting Halifax, Cathlamet, New Brunswick, is my home..."

Ruth R. Mitchell, a Winnipeg teacher, wrote that she and three other teachers planned to motor to Halifax, where they were stationed as Wrens during the Second World War.

A number of the delegates will leave immediately after the convention to attend the International Meeting of the organization at London. Province-wide tours have been arranged for others.

a wife and four children."

Incidentally, he got the loan, but it was not on the strength of his four children. In these days they did not represent $240 per year in baby bonuses. They were merely an indication of stability and a need for hard work.

We must always remember that our governments do not make for us a single dollar. All they do is redistribute the wealth we, as individuals, create through our own labor.

Baby bonuses, unemployment insurance, old age pensions, and other examples of government paternalism are made possible only through a sacrifice of a portion of present earnings by the people who are working at useful jobs.

In income tax. So the very simple and practical fact remains that most of the gain was in the average income class where the organized worker belongs, and the non-skilled worker who had found a new and profitable demand for his services. And these are the groups whom the leftists are trying to convince that they are very unfortunate fellows.

An amused and slightly irritated Commons last week gave its answer to a suggestion from across the line that it is high time this country and the United States should wed. In the opinion of the Commons, the answer was a definite "no".

Canada gets these suggestions from time to time, mostly by American financial writers and political thinkers who focus their attention on the extreme desirability of linking Canada's economic wealth to the United States' military strength.

Last week's suggestion came from George E. Shea, Jr., of the Wall Street Journal, writing in Look magazine. External Affairs Minister Pearson, returning home from Atlantic Pact talks in London, said he was more interested in pictures of actress Lana Turner in the magazine than he was in the article entitled "Why the United States and Canada should be one country."

"I must admit," said Mr. Pearson with a grin, "that my attention was distracted when I tried to read it, because on the page opposite the article were some extremely interesting pictures of a movie actress called Miss Lana Turner."

The pictures, he believed, dealt more impressively, more authoritatively and more truthfully with the subject with which they were concerned than did Mr. Shea's article.

Gordon Graydon (PC-Peel) said more candidly, "Canada has been quietly 'amused' by the article. Making the two countries one would be a 'marriage of convenience' with a 'heavy dose' of Canadian resources."

Balanced Forces
Canadians had a new defence concept to ponder as a result of Mr. Pearson's latest trip overseas. It was the concept of an Atlantic-family balanced defence force which may eventually mean the end of the old concept of defence by great masses of conscripted infantry.

Such a new military concept has implications of a revolutionary military idea. For centuries, the armchair military theorists have believed that big battles can only be won by huge arrays of soldiers. Such was Napoleon's concept of winning battles and of the great First World War leaders, but it appears that the atomic age will change all that.

Under the new concept, the emphasis will no longer be on men but on machines, and that means that the nation with the greatest reserve of resources probably will come out victorious.

Under such a concept the democracies have a tremendous advantage. For example, the combination of Canada's resources and the United States' leadership in industrial production could prove a force hard to beat.

Mr. Pearson, unfolding some of the Demand For Cancer Dressings Increases

The Alberta division of the Canadian Cancer Society will send out dressings to 375 cancer patients this year. These surgical dressings are one of the services provided by the Cancer Society in its fight against the disease which is killing a thousand Albertans last year. More than $10,000 will be spent on this particular service in 1950. There are twenty different sizes and shapes of dressing for different locations of the cancer.

The success of the cancer society's educational program has created a greater demand for these dressings. It's more than doubled in three years. Cancer patients, or their doctor, can obtain them free of charge by writing to Edmonton District Office - 1601 Jasper Avenue. They are sent out two weeks supply at a time. The dressings service, and other services of the cancer society, are financed by an annual campaign for funds, which is now in progress.

The end of the seventh week of the campaign saw $49,215 in the fund, $1,089 short of the objective. The 1950 objective is $10,000 higher than last year's, made necessary largely because the success of the educational program is creating a greater demand for the cancer society's other services.

EARLY SUMMER DECISION
Early summer is the time to decide whether you want to sport that healthy tanned look or maintain your posh complexion. Doctors warn that once the tanning process is begun, no safe method of removing or bleaching the pigment is known. Time alone will take it out. Steer clear of artificial bleaching methods—none of them is completely safe.

Shocked Old Lady: "And on the way here we passed about twenty-five people in parked cars!"
Young Hostess: "Oh, I am sure you are mistaken. It must have been an even number."

Topics discussed at the Atlantic Pact meeting, supported the view that this combination of resources and power will hold tremendous military potency. The pact nations, he said, have "more than ample resources to meet our defence needs and have tremendous actual or potential productive capacity, much greater than exists or can be developed in the Communist despotisms."

No New Commitments

Later in the week, Defence Minister Claxton had a word to say about Atlantic Pact developments and their effect on Canada. But so far as the Commons could gather, it appeared that the pact would bring no new commitments for Canada. Her original military policies—for the most part secret—would remain intact.

He was assailed by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, for failing to give the Commons an explanation of how Canada would play her part under the new pact concept of specialization by each of the 12 member countries.

Mr. Drew believed that any development of the concept of balanced collective Atlantic Pact forces should mean that Canada should concentrate on building up her air force and fast, hard-hitting armored forces. Mr. Claxton declared that Canada's policy embraced the idea that this country always would fight her wars at the side of some ally—never single-handed. It would be as an ally of the western powers that she would fight any future war. Even with the new concept of balanced forces, there will be "no immediate change" in Canadian forces or planning.

The word "immediate" appeared to be the catch, for Mr. Claxton immediately went on to say that Canada now has neared the peak manpower level her forces needed to carry—about 50,000 men. That army of men to protect the almost unending stretches of the Canadian border, to the east, west south and north, would at first appear insufficient.

However, when it is considered that the emphasis will be in the future on atomic weapon capable of wiping out a city at one blow, the power of infantry would appear to be negligible in comparison with the machine power that man has invented.

The Fugitives

(By Jack Scott in Penticton Herald)

Nothing splits a man's personality as wide open as a holiday from women. Any "stag" affair will bring out the finer things in a member of the masculine species, allowing healthy expansion of ego, freedom of speech and a temporary mind of his own.

I base these reckless conclusions of past experiences in mountain cabins, fishing lodges and other retreats from the ladies where men are briefly freed from the shackles that bind them. More particularly, these are the findings of the past 12 days in which four of us kisser dream girls good bye and escaped into the "poke-playing," chess-playing, rough-talking, uninhibited society of all-male company.

The behaviour pattern of a stag group like ours is worth some study by any psychologist.

Here you have a fairly representative quartet who, in the ordinary course of events, hate getting up in the morning, walk for a week if they have to dry the dishes, complain of heart strain if they run for a bus, pick over food their wives prepare and are generally somewhat glum.

This same group, voluntarily manured a long distance from civilization, may be observed to rise at the crack of dawn bursting with vigor, fight each other for the privilege of cooking the fresh-caught trout, gulp down the most frightening messes of badly-cooked food and talk eagerly of four-mile hikes in the hills.

A certain amount of bravado may be the explanation for this remarkable behavior. There is something of the small boy in every man, at part of it too is the absence of women. The little lady is not around to remind you to act your age when you execute a bare-bottomed "canonball" into rigid water and no man breathes who doesn't hate acting his age.

St. John Ambulance

Work of the St. John Ambulance began in Canada about 1882. Its purpose is to provide instruction in First Aid, Home Nursing and allied subjects similar to that of the Order in Great Britain, established by the Order of St. John, in 1887.

The Order is the oldest order of chivalry, its foundation dating back to 1099.

There are branches of the St. John Ambulance in all Canadian provinces, and in the federal district of Ottawa. A uniformed corps of qualified volunteers to serve in emergencies, known as the St. John Ambulance Brigade, was formed in Great Britain in 1887 and, in Canada, No. 1 Forest City Ambulance Division was organized in London, Ont., in 1903. Additional units then followed in the other provinces. The first Cadet Division for the Junior Branch was organized in 1932.

In 1932 a Commandery of the Order was established in Canada—was raised to the status of Priory in 1945, and was accorded further autonomy in 1950.

During both world wars, teaching by the St. John Ambulance developed enormously. Included in those trained during the Second World War were A.R.P. squads, with a total of 465,782 persons being trained in first aid altogether. During the conflict, training in first aid and home nursing was coordinated under a joint board. Several hundred Volunteer Aid Detachments went overseas and served as auxiliaries and ambulance drivers.

It is estimated that more than 1,000,000 Canadians have been taught first aid by the Order, with additional thousands having been given home nursing instruction.

Pastime activities expanded following the war, with voluntary assistance being given at first aid posts, exhibitions and fairs, sports meets and other large public gatherings. In addition, the Order carried out a public blood grouping program.

Efficiency in the Order is maintained by constant practice and re-examination.

REALIZATION

Once I was deaf
And now I hear!
Once I was blind
And now I see!
Once I was wild
Without a care!
Now I'm all sincerity,
Softly I heard a whispered word,
Like the fluttering of a bird
A gentle voice which seemed to say,
"Listen, while there's time, let's pray"
My prayer was heard,
And now I know
That all is peace, my heart aglow,
Now I can hear that gentle voice,
See the stars and now rejoice,
For well I know the world is grand,
For all of us who understand.

Fish in Clear Lake don't feel quite as safe as they used to... not since last Sunday, anyway, for that was the day on which Mrs. C. T. Lally took up her trusty fishing pole and did a little angling. In fact she angled until she managed to hook one of the nicest fish that have come out of the lake lately. Congrats.

Mr. E. B. Connelly of Macleod, motored to Wainwright on Monday. He left for Edmonton on Tuesday, accompanied by Mrs. R. Leggett.

Mr. and Mrs. George Newstead of Chauvin came by bus to Wainwright on Monday, Mr. Newstead returned that evening, while Mrs. Newstead remained to receive medical treatment.

Mrs. Charlie "Lilly" was a visitor to Wainwright last week, bringing up her son Jimmy, who had suffered a broken arm. He received treatment at the hospital and returned the next day.

We are glad to report that Mrs. Bengtson, who is a patient in the hospital, is improving nicely.

Life is going ahead apace at the Clear Lake resort now, with people of town getting established in their cabins, and many gathering Sundays and evenings to enjoy the comforts and beauties.

We understand that Eddie Walker is starting a new cabin today.

Ted Wilson is nicely settled in his cabin at the east end of the lake.

Ken Stovell is a business visitor to Edmonton as is also Jim Smith.

Sports Camera

It isn't often done, but a group of gentlemen wearing sport jackets and slacks and jacking hockey, provided summer sporting news to one side of the country's sport pages last week.

The news was big—that the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association had picked five senior hockey leagues and pulled them out of further Allan Cup competition.

At a special meeting in July a special C.A.H.A. committee will complete plans for a new super-senior class of hockey clubs that will vacate the Allan Cup field, leaving it to the smaller senior leagues that up to now have been unable to keep pace with the bigger outfits. The five leagues—Western Canada, Ontario Senior "A", Quebec Senior and the Maritime and Cape Breton loops—will in future play off for a yet unnamed trophy. That cup and other matters pertaining to the new plan will be put in order at the July session.

For a number of years now, the situation has been building. Briefly it is this: senior clubs other than those operating in the above mentioned leagues haven't been able to get a lock in on the Allan Cup playoffs. The reasons are many but they boil down to not having the kind of money needed to attract the best senior players. And, without a few of the best, chances of attracting professional club affiliation are slim.

The fact of the matter came home more pronounced in the playoffs in the past season—more so in the case of the cup-winning Toronto Marlboros than in any other.

One-Sided Scores
Marlboros, an important cog in the Toronto Maple Leaf professional machine, literally annihilated their northern and eastern Ontario opposition. Large, one-sided scores against teams like Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds and Cornwall Colts were the rule rather than the exception.

At the time, one Marlboro official, Harold Ballard, declared the C.A.H.A. should cut the footings around and revise the setup to give the smaller, non-monied leagues a chance. Too, the one-sided play was not getting the Marlboros ready for stiffer competition nor was it good for hockey.

The super-senior grouping apparently will make no bones about money paid players. Under blue-print plans already formulated, players will be assigned to contracts similar to the professionals and the contract will clearly state the salary figure. Players will sign for a year at a time and clubs they sign with will have first call on their services the following year.

It would appear that the most pleasing aspect of the proposed plan is the fact that smaller centres that have designs for senior teams will go ahead now that they know they'll have a better chance against centres of similar financial limitations. They'll have no fear of having a fairly good club getting well into the playoffs only to be knocked out by a club packed with old pros or budding young stars about to turn out in the uniform of an N.H.L. club.

It should make for better hockey all around.

Arrested Growth Medical Problem

VANCOUVER—Stunted growth in children is being recognized as a medical problem in Canada and the United States, Dr. A. L. Chute, Toronto children's specialist, said here.

Speaking before the Vancouver Medical Association's summer school, Dr. Chute said the problem is not nearly

T.B. Not Restricted To Younger Adults

The maximum incidence of tuberculosis in men, is slowly shifting from the young adult to the middle age group, it is stated by two St. Hyacinthe Que. doctors in an article in the June issue of the Canadian Medical Association Journal. The authors are Dr. A. D. Temple, and Dr. E. F. Crutchlow of the St. Hyacinthe Veterans' Hospital.

They state that pulmonary tuberculosis, particularly the type with positive sputum, is by no means restricted to young adults, and that it can, and does, occur in the older age group at an early stage.

"Many cases of mineral or moderately advanced lesions with positive sputum have come to our attention in individuals over 50 and even over 60 years of age," write Doctors Temple and Crutchlow. "This is in keeping with recent findings in public health reports all over America."

Many of the older tubercular patients became aware of the disease only through routine case-finding programs after having been admitted to hospital for surgical procedures entirely unrelated to their chest condition. However, there was a tendency, when consideration was being given to a single chest x-ray film, to think of tuberculosis if the individual was under 40, and of neoplasm, a new or abnormal formation such as a tumor, if the patient was more than 40.

so widespread as in Asiatic countries. "Malnutrition is behind much of this," he said. "They are neglected children—cases where maternal delinquency in early life was a strong factor. It is usually an economic factor." Other causes of arrested physical development in children were congenital heart disease, chronic pulmonary and digestive diseases. Occasional cases of dwarfism are inherited.

We fear that in many cases so much emphasis has been placed on the incidence of neoplasm in the over-forties that students are not sufficiently aware of the fact that tuberculosis must be considered," state the two St. Hyacinthe doctors. They add that as a high percentage of the older sufferers have a positive sputum they constitute a definite menace not only to their household contacts, but to staff and other hospital patients.

How Is Newfoundland-Canada Union Turning Out?

Union of Newfoundland and Canada is showing evidence of working out well in the opinion of most respondents to The Financial Post's latest question-of-the-week.

Replies stress the social benefits brought to the people of Newfoundland, the benefits derived from the removal of trade barriers both in the present and for future trade development.

Newfoundlanders themselves stress, however, that the rest of Canada should not lose sight of the contributions made to Canada by the inclusion of Newfoundland and some anxiety is expressed as to the adequacy of the financial terms. It is suggested that Newfoundland's greatest need is creation of profitable employment through

Kitchen ... Kinks

THEY ATE EVERY CRUMB

Every homemaker rejoices when someone remarks that family or guests ate every crumb, denoting their real appreciation of the food served.

The same sense of satisfaction is felt by the homemaker who is a good manager, when she plans meals using left-over food such as bread, meat or vegetable with some other food to make an appetizing dish for a second meal.

Even the best cook makes mistakes occasionally. The telephone and door bell have a way of ringing at the wrong time and in the stress of the moment the baking powder may be left out of the cake, the custard may curdle, the oven may get a bit too hot or an extra measure of salt may be added to the soup.

Many a poor cake has masqueraded as a very successful pudding with just the right sauce.

The curdled custard, vigorously beaten with a rotary egg beater, remains the desired smoothness.

A potato added to the salty soup will absorb a large portion of the extra salt. It should, of course, be removed before serving the soup.

No matter how carefully one watches the bread box there is always a crust or a few slices that are too stale to serve. Bread pudding should be a treat rather than a necessary evil.

From the home economist, Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture, have several good ideas which may be helpful in assuring that the family will eat every crumb.

Crumb Berry Pudding

1/4 cup fine dry bread crumbs
1/2 cup quick rolled oats
1 cup sour milk
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup sifted flour (all-purpose)
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon soda
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cup berries (strawberries, blueberries or raspberries)

Soak crumbs and rolled oats in sour milk for 1 1/2 to 2 hours. Cream shortening and sugar. Sift together the flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Add berries to dry ingredients and add alternately with crumb mixture to the creamed fat and sugar mixture. Blend thoroughly. Fill individual moulds 2/3 full. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 375° F., individual moulds, 25 to 30 minutes; cake pan, 40 to 45 minutes. Serve cold with sweetened crushed berries. Yield: eight servings.

ing and sugar. Sift together the flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Add berries to dry ingredients and add alternately with crumb mixture to the creamed fat and sugar mixture. Blend thoroughly. Fill individual moulds 2/3 full. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 375° F., individual moulds, 25 to 30 minutes; cake pan, 40 to 45 minutes. Serve cold with sweetened crushed berries. Yield: eight servings.

Meat Croquettes

4 tablespoons fat
4 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon celery salt
1 teaspoon chopped parsley
2 cups minced cooked meat
1 egg
2 tablespoons water
1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs

Melt fat, add flour and blend well. Add milk slowly, stirring constantly until thick. Add salt, pepper, celery salt, parsley and meat. Mix well and shape into croquettes. Beat egg slightly and add water. Roll croquettes in crumbs—then in egg, then in crumbs. Let stand 1 hour and fry in deep fat until golden brown. Yield: twelve croquettes.

Lemon Sauce

3 tablespoons butter
3/4 cup sifted icing sugar
1 egg yolk
1/2 cup boiling water

Juice and rind of one lemon

Cream butter and add sifted icing sugar, blending until smooth. Beat in egg yolk one at a time, then slowly stir in the boiling water. Cook in a double boiler until thickened about 2-5 minutes, stirring frequently. Remove from heat and add lemon juice and rind. Serve hot or cold. Yield: about 1 1/4 cups sauce.

Results Of Studies Of Created Wheatgrass

The following is the summary of an article written by W. A. Hubbard and published in Scientific Agriculture 29: 385-395, August, 1949.

1. Seed bed, stubble or annual weeds. Native sod not suitable unless the cover is depleted by drought or cultivation.
2. Heavy spring grazing on old stands of created wheatgrass has resulted in an invasion of other grasses when a source of seed was readily available. The invasion did not occur to the same extent if the created wheatgrass was protected. There was no invasion of the created wheatgrass into adjacent native sod.
3. If the seed-bed is suitable, there will be no significant difference after a 10-year period in density of stand or yields when seedlings are either broadcast or seeded, and when seeded at rates of 1 to 15 pounds per acre.
4. Spring flooding does not greatly increase the ground cover over that on dryland, but increases the yield by three to four times.
5. Seedlings on native sod will not be successful unless the native cover is destroyed by either drought or cultivation. Protection increases the rate of advance of created wheatgrass into native sod.

Created wheatgrass is a hardy perennial grass, well suited to the climatic conditions of Southern Alberta and Saskatchewan, as shown by the experiments conducted by the Dominion Range Experiment Station, Manyberries, Alberta. Heavy grazing is detrimental to stands of created wheatgrass the first year after seeding before the plants are able to establish themselves. During this period, overgrazing weakens the created wheatgrass plants to the extent that natural Alberta but from individuals and other groups as well.

To date the returns include all three sources with many individuals, including city residents, stating that the plight of the Manitoba farmers is most serious in view of loss of production this year.

Contributions have come in from Fairclinton Valley, Viking, Winterburn, Majorville, Vermillion, Wetsaskwin, Ranfurly, Perryvale, Husar, Barons, Iron Springs, Manville and Twin Butte.

Many locals have reported plans for fund raising activities ranging from house-to-house canvassing to the holding of male fashion show.

The F.U.A. Board of Directors will meet later in the summer to determine proper distribution of the funds.

Meantime, Mr. Stimpfle urges that the fund continue well into the fall, to give every farmer an opportunity to contribute and if necessary to determine the size of his contribution by the crop outlook this year.

F.U.A. Winnipeg Relief Fund Going Ahead

In its first week of operation the F.U.A. Flood Fund for Manitoba Farmer Flood Victims has exceeded the $500 mark, Carl J. Stimpfle, president of the Farmers' Union of Alberta announced today.

The campaign was announced several days ago and its object is to assist farmers in the path of the ravaging flood waters of the Red River. Mr. Stimpfle stated that approximately 600 square miles of farm lands have been devastated and many farmers in this area will not be raising a crop this year. Major purpose of the F.U.A. drive is to help those farmers who have no hope of any financial returns from their land for at least one year, Mr. Stimpfle stated.

Though the drive has just begun there are indications that the response will be heavy and that funds will be forthcoming not only from organized F.U.A. Local campaigns throughout

MRS. M. J. MONCURE

Less than a week after Manitoba's Red River floods were officially over, the Fraser River was inching up and against 100 miles of dikes protecting thousands of homes in British Columbia.

Rivers and streams throughout the province were choked with snow water and there was little indication of cooler weather to stem the potential flooding. Dike patrols reported in most places that average has been controlled so far. First flooding occurred at Ladner at the mouth of the Fraser. Elsewhere, the Skeena River threatened roads and rail lines and choked some residents to higher ground.

Main danger point was the Fraser Valley, however, where the river level reached 22 feet at Mission and was still climbing. Flood crest there in 1948 was 24.75 feet.

H. A. Cox, flood co-ordinator for the Mission area, said the chief concern was not the height of the water, but

As required by The Income Tax Act, this will advise our customers that it is our intention to make a payment in proportion to patronage in respect of the year ending the 30th day of June, 1951, and we hereby hold forth the prospect of patronage payment accordingly.

A Creditable Record

The Alberta Wheat Pool has recently sent to Pool Elevator agents cheques covering patronage dividends for member deliveries to Pool Elevators in the 1948-49 crop year. Member patrons have also been credited with a patronage dividend paid in Pool reserves. Ownership of the Pool rests with the reserves.

The 1948-49 payment is as follows:

CASH	$ 406,000
POOL RESERVES	$ 812,000

TOTAL DISTRIBUTION OUT OF 1948-49
POOL ELEVATOR EARNINGS ... $ 1,218,000

LONG TIME RECORD

Since Alberta Pool Elevators started business, patronage dividends have been paid to member patrons as follows:

CASH	$ 4,295,222.96
RESERVES	$ 4,335,003.73
	$ 8,630,226.71

RESERVES SITUATION

Between the years 1923 and 1928 Pool members contributed $8,467,000 in cash to build and operate Alberta Pool Elevators.

In recent years the Pool has been buying back such reserves from older members.

The total redeemed to date is $5,300,000.

Such purchases of reserves are redistributed to current patrons of Pool Elevators in the form of patronage dividends.

STOUFFVILLE PAPER WINS AWARD

Joseph T. Clark trophy, emblematic of best edited and written newspaper in Quebec or Ontario town of 1,500 citizens, is presented to Charles Nolan of Stouffville Tribune by Ken Walls of the Barrie Examiner. Mr. Nolan is publisher-editor.

The terrific pressure against $11,000,000 worth of dikes constructed or repaired since the disaster year of 1948. A prolonged crest, he said, might be catastrophic.

The Canadian National main line at Cusco, 140 miles east of Vancouver, was cut, forcing westbound trains to switch to Canadian Pacific lines at Kamloops. In 1948, the province was isolated for days by rail with telegraph and telephone communications knocked out as well.

Run-off so far has been about 15 per cent behind schedule because of cool weather, although snowfall was above average. Continued warm weather, with temperatures as high as 74, would speed thawing and pour more water down the swollen rivers.

Wrong Impression
Britain stirred up international criticism last week when a Labor Party pamphlet outlining the United Kingdom's reasons for rejecting the idea of a federal European government were taken to mean that the country turned down plans for European co-operation.

Prime Minister Attlee acted urgently to correct the impression. He sent instructions to the British ambassadors in the United States and France to spread the word that Britain has not turned her back on plans to unite Europe.

The Labor Party document rejected any idea of setting up a federal European government or what it called a "supra-national authority" with power to dictate economic decisions to member countries. One reason given was that anti-socialist majorities in other countries might upset Labor's planning for full employment and economic recovery in Britain.

The party statement endorsed European co-operation through agreements among governments, but it fell short of Britain's position on joining the Schuman Plan to pool western Europe's coal and steel resources under an international authority.

Explaining Britain's position in the House of Commons, Attlee cautiously said that Britain was ready to help rather than hinder the development of the Schuman proposal. This indicated a split between the Labor government and Labor Party executive. Attlee told Parliament the party does not necessarily reflect government policy.

Both Attlee and Foreign Secretary Bevin, both members of the party executive, were reported angry at the timing of the document.

In Washington, State Secretary Dean Acheson said he considered the Labor Party statement just that—a party statement and not one of the British government. He pointed out that party groups in the United States put out statements between elections which may or may not reflect the views of persons other than the writers.

Anthony Eden, deputy Conservative leader and former foreign secretary, attacked the Labor Party stand. He said its effect "is to make plain the convictions of its authors that British socialism cannot enter into any practical form of European co-operation unless it is governed by socialist principles."

Source close to Attlee said the statement would have aroused little comment or criticism if it had come either earlier or later. He blamed the public relations of the party for "utterly foolish" timing.

Ruest Committed
General Ruest, who made the time-bomb that blasted an airliner and killed all 15 persons aboard last September 9, has been committed to stand trial for murder.

The 51-year-old watchmaker, who admitted that he manufactured the bomb on the request of G. Albert Guay, will be tried at the criminal assizes at Quebec City from Oct. 16.

Guay, the Quebec Jeweler who was convicted of engineering the explosion to get rid of his wife in order to marry a pretty waitress and collect insurance, is under sentence to be hanged Jan. 13.

Guay was originally scheduled to be executed June 23, but the date was postponed at the crown's request after Premier Duplessis' announcement. Guay had made a statement at Montreal's Boreaux jail. He may testify at Ruest's trial.

Judge Achille Pettigrew, who presided at Ruest's preliminary hearing, told the crippled man he had come to the conclusion that "there is enough evidence to warrant a trial" on the charge of murder. Ruest hobbled out of the prisoner's dock and was taken to Quebec jail.

Searle Precipitation Report No. 7

An improvement has taken place in the overall moisture condition of the three Prairie Provinces. The total moisture condition now stands at 72% of normal, compared with 70% last week and 67% per cent at this time a year ago.

The total moisture condition for Alberta now stands at 66 per cent of normal, compared with 54 per cent last week. Saskatchewan now stands at 73 per cent of normal, compared with 70 per cent last week. Manitoba now stands at 100 per cent of normal, compared with 107 per cent last week.

The rainfall for this present growing season from April 1st to June 15th has been 43 per cent of normal in Alberta, compared with 40 per cent last week. For Saskatchewan this seasonal rainfall has been 71 per cent of normal, compared with 74 per cent last week and in Manitoba the similar seasonal rainfall has been 136 per cent of normal, compared with 122 per cent last week.

In Alberta all Crop Districts have less than average rains except Crop District 16 which has had better than normal rains. In Saskatchewan, all Crop Districts have had somewhat less than average rains except Crop District No. 1, which has had considerably better than average rains. In Manitoba all Crop Districts have had normal or better than normal rains with the exception of Crop District 13 which has had less than normal.

While the rainfall condition in Alberta and Saskatchewan, notably in Alberta, is considerably lower than normal, yet we had the same low moisture condition at this time a year ago. Last year, however, heavy rains started to fall over the whole West around the middle of July which greatly improved crop prospects.

Red Paper Claims Yugoslav Farmers Defy Sowing Plan

BELOGRADE—Private presents, still the great majority in Communist-run Yugoslavia, are going slow on the government's spring sowing plan according to "Borba" the official organ of the Yugoslav Communist party.

The newspaper even accuses some of them of trying to sabotage the plan. Unless something is done immediately, it adds, the plan will be in jeopardy. It demanded that a strong line be taken with "speculators and saboteurs" who attempt to hold up the sowing by making excuses about the coldness of the weather or lack of seed or by entering false figures.

Under the law, a peasant is liable to a large fine or three months' imprisonment for failing to sow required quantities of seed.

Figures quoted in "Borba" show that state farms have fulfilled their sowing plan by 74 per cent; co-operative farms, in which the peasants own and till their land in common, by 30 per cent; and private peasants by 13 per cent.

The paper indicates that the position is the more serious since private peasants are responsible for sowing 83 per cent of the total arable land surface in the country.

Although "Borba" does not mention the possibility of a food crisis in Yugoslavia if the sowing plan is not fulfilled, observers fear that Marshal Tito's warning, in his speech before the national assembly at the end of April, that something of the sort might occur if food supplies were not increased this year.

Population Increasing
"An exceptionally important task is the improvement of our agriculture," he told the assembly. "If this is not done immediately and most energetically we shall in the coming year find ourselves in considerable difficulties with regard to feeding our constantly increasing population."

The urban population in Yugoslavia has increased by about 400,000 since the end of the war as a result of industrialization under the five-year plan. Food shortages on any large scale would, however, observers consider, do more harm to Marshal Tito's regime, always under pressure from the Cominform, than almost any other single adverse factor.

Some informed western observers say that it is not so much the irregularities as the whole policy of the government of socializing agriculture which is so unpopular among this highly individualistic Balkan peasantry. The government gives preferential treatment to state farms and co-operatives and penalizes the individual handowner, especially if he is a "rich peasant" with more than 15 hectares (about 37 acres) of land, by onerous taxation and other forms of pressure.

According to "Borba" larger surfaces have been sown this year than at the same time last year, but this year's plan is larger by 875,000 hectares (Last year 6,800,000 hectares were sown). It is "the duty of peasant work co-operatives, state farms and machine stations to help organize the fulfillment of the plan, regardless of how individual speculators are behaving towards co-operatives and their help."

WATER-BORNE DISEASE

Water forced into the nostrils during a "feet first" jump into the water not only stings unpleasantly, but may carry dirt and germs to the tender surfaces of the nose, throat and sinuses. Diving is a far smoother and more graceful way of entering the water, but if you can't dive, don't be ashamed to hold your nose while you take the plunge.

Young men win 'em with a wink. Older authors mention, mink.

Big Crowd Attends Local Sports Day

The weather was perfect for Edgerton sports held on June 14th, and a large crowd gathered together for an enjoyable day. Baseball was the great attraction and the brand of ball served up, exciting if not too polished, proved to be some of the best of the last few years. Of the four teams entered, Wainwright, Edgerton, Ribstone Chauvin and Sigo entered. Sigo won with Chauvin second. Bert Wilkinson was the softball organizer.

Horse racing was organized by Neilson McKinstry, the results being: Pony Race—1st, McBride; 2nd, McBride; 3rd, McBride; 4th, McBride; 5th, McBride; 6th, McBride; 7th, McBride; 8th, McBride; 9th, McBride; 10th, McBride.

Other attractions were the children's races, the horse shoe tournament and the various games housed in a large tent. The ladies of St. Mary's and St. Oswald's parishes did good business in the lunch booth. Mr. G. I. Sawyer with his sound equipment provided music and made all the announcements. The show and dance in the Memorial Hall at night were well patronized.

LOCAL NOTES

There will be a special meeting of St. Mary's W.A. at the home of Mrs. G. Phillips on Thursday, June 22nd, at 8:00 p.m.

A special meeting of the Board of Trade was held last Friday afternoon in the hotel, when Mr. Ross of Calgary Power and Mr. Dubois of Northland Utilities met the board to give information on the power question.

Mrs. E. Drury is visiting her son in Winnipeg.

Mr. and Mrs. Pomeroy have arrived in Edgerton. Mr. and Mrs. F. Roberts and family left for Westlock last week.

The fire alarm sounded on Monday at noon. All turned out to get a bush fire under control that was threatening Bob McKay's house.

Bloomington - Aspen

A shower was held at Aspen school on June 18th in honor of Miss Evelyn Bueh, a bride elect of the near future. Many lovely and useful gifts were presented to Evelyn and Jimmy by Mr. H. McMillan in his very pleasing and humorous style.

A bountiful lunch was served by the ladies.

The little children enjoyed some races while the teens and men folk played ball.

The regular meeting of the Aspen Ladies was held at home of Mrs. C. Jeffcoat on June 18. The members were busy getting their old wool ready to be shipped. After the regular business a dainty lunch was served by the hostess.

Ed. Ripley Passes Away At Wainwright Monday

Edgerton lost one of its old time residents on Monday, when Albert Edward Ripley, age 82 years, passed away at his home at Wainwright.

During the many years that Ed was agent for the International Harvester Company, and the Imperial Oil Company at Edgerton he made many friends and was widely known as a business man who was noted for bringing his humanity into his business.

Through the hard years, when the farming people found the going hard, Ed was a kindly and co-operative personality, whose assistance was often and freely given.

Ed established his business at Edgerton in 1919, after having been a bookman for the I.H.C. for twelve years. For the following twenty-seven years he was one of Edgerton's substantial residents, taking part in the many activities of the town and district, and for many years serving it as mayor.

Selling out in 1946 to Jim Steele, Ed moved to Wainwright, where he has since made his home.

His death occurred suddenly on Sunday morning. He got out of bed, but felt that there was something wrong. The doctor was called, but before anything could be done he had collapsed and passed away.

Ed was a native of Ottawa, Ont., where he was born on 28th, 1868. Funeral services are being held at the St. Thomas Anglican church at Wainwright, this afternoon (Wednesday) June 21st, at 2:30 p.m.

Bob McKay Home Saved From Fire By Quick Action

Details are rather sketchy at the moment, but we understand that Bob McKay of Edgerton nearly lost his home by fire on Monday afternoon.

It appears that some young folks managed to set fire to the grass and trees behind the house, and only by quick action was the home saved from destruction.

As it was no damage was done to the building.

Card of Thanks

We would like to thank all those who assisted in saving our home from fire on Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. BOB MCKAY.

Be Prepared For The Grasshoppers
